About The Hague.

The Hague is often in the news thanks to the work of numerous international organisations and companies which headquarter here. But there is more to it than that! The Hague has a deserving reputation of prestige, stature and influence. It's a place where important matters are discussed, where decisions are made and where alliances are forged. Our city is home to the Dutch Royal Family, the Parliament, Nobel-prize winning organisations, numerous international companies and is the second largest UN city. All of this adds to the gravitas of The Hague.

At the same time, The Hague offers surprising and refreshing diversity. Historic and modern architecture harmoniously interlocks in the charming city centre. The inspiring international vibe complements the traditional Dutch way of living which is well known for its enormous respect for social and environmental sustainability. You might also be surprised by the city's playful side – with its beautiful sandy beaches, promenades, bars, restaurants and a vibrant cultural scene, something that all our visitors love to discover.

Since the UN hosted the first peace conference in The Hague in 1899, the city has developed an excellent event infrastructure which offers customised solutions for unique association and corporate events in The Hague.

Getting to The Hague.

The Hague is easy to reach from anywhere in the world. It is located in one of the best regions in Europe with easy access to two international airports and train stations.

Amsterdam Schiphol airport has 322 direct flight connections worldwide offered by 108 airlines. There is a direct train connection to The Hague Central Station and The Hague HS five-times per hour. Travel time is 29 min.

Furthermore, The Hague has an outstanding and sustainable system of public transport, which makes it easy to find your way around the city. Trams and buses are extremely efficient and punctual, making sure that all delegates will get to their meetings on time. While the entire public transport network functions remarkably well, an alternative worth considering is walking to your destination within the town.
